

I object to the unrestriced use of cell phones on commercial airlines. This would create a nuisance, what with the ringing and forced listening to other people's personal conversations. This situation would create an environment where a person would find it difficult to rest, read or do any sort work requiring concentration.